WeFarm is a pioneering peer-to-peer knowledge-sharing platform for the world's 500 million smallholder farmers with no internet. With WeFarm, farmers can access information on agriculture via SMS and receive crowdsourced information back from farmers around the world. WeFarm can also provide vital climate information and weather reports via SMS.

With easy access to relevant, grassroots information, farmers can enhance their resilience against climate change and improve their livelihoods.

WeFarm has grown from 0 to 51,000 farmers in under 12 months and more than 7 million pieces of information have been shared through our platform, many of these regarding climate. Soon we will trial providing climate information via SMS to our network of farmers in conjunction with Kenya Met Office.
